

Asia-Pacific Section of Wildlife Disease Association

Geographic Information System Online Workshop

November 24th, 2021

13:00 - 16:00 (JST)

Asia-Pacific Section of Wildlife Disease Association is organizing the workshop to introduce the basic use of GIS for wildlife disease data analysis.

Target attendees

Students in ecology, veterinary science and conservation

Veterinarian
who are interested in spatial epidemiology

People
who are interested in this field

Speakers

Introduction to GIS and spatial analysis

Dr. Sergio Guerrero-Sanchez Wildlife veterinarian and disease ecologist

Spatial epidemiology of malaria

Dr. Kimberly M. Fornace University of Glasgow and London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine

Tick-borne disease
and GIS

Dr. Albertus Stephanus Louw
Hokkaido University

The workshop is open and free to all persons (not limited to the WDA-AP members).

Participants need to register before the workshop.

Scan here to Register

<https://forms.gle/2sDNR3nfdWExh9fC7>

Contact: Dr. Chen-Chih Chen ychih0502@gmail.com